Dedication

"There are three things extremely hard; steel, a diamond, and to know one's self." Benjamin Franklin.
When one is able to understand himself, he is ready to help others attain self-realization. Of such caliber is Mr. Woody.
As coach, teacher, assistant principal, and principal at West High School for thirty years, Mr. Woody has originated and developed many activities which mirror his deep concern for youth and for West High School.
In humble recognition of his many qualities — sincerity, leadership, and ingenuity — we, the Westerner staff of 1962, dedicate this annual.

Faculty and Curriculum

A simple one room schoolhouse, a place for the learnin' of readin', ritin', and 'rithmetic.
A complex building of many rooms, West High School is still a place for the learnin' of readin', ritin', and 'rithmetic.
The dedicated schoolmaster of yesterday has been replaced by the specialized educator of today.
The students, however, remain the same through all phases of history — varying in interests and motivations.

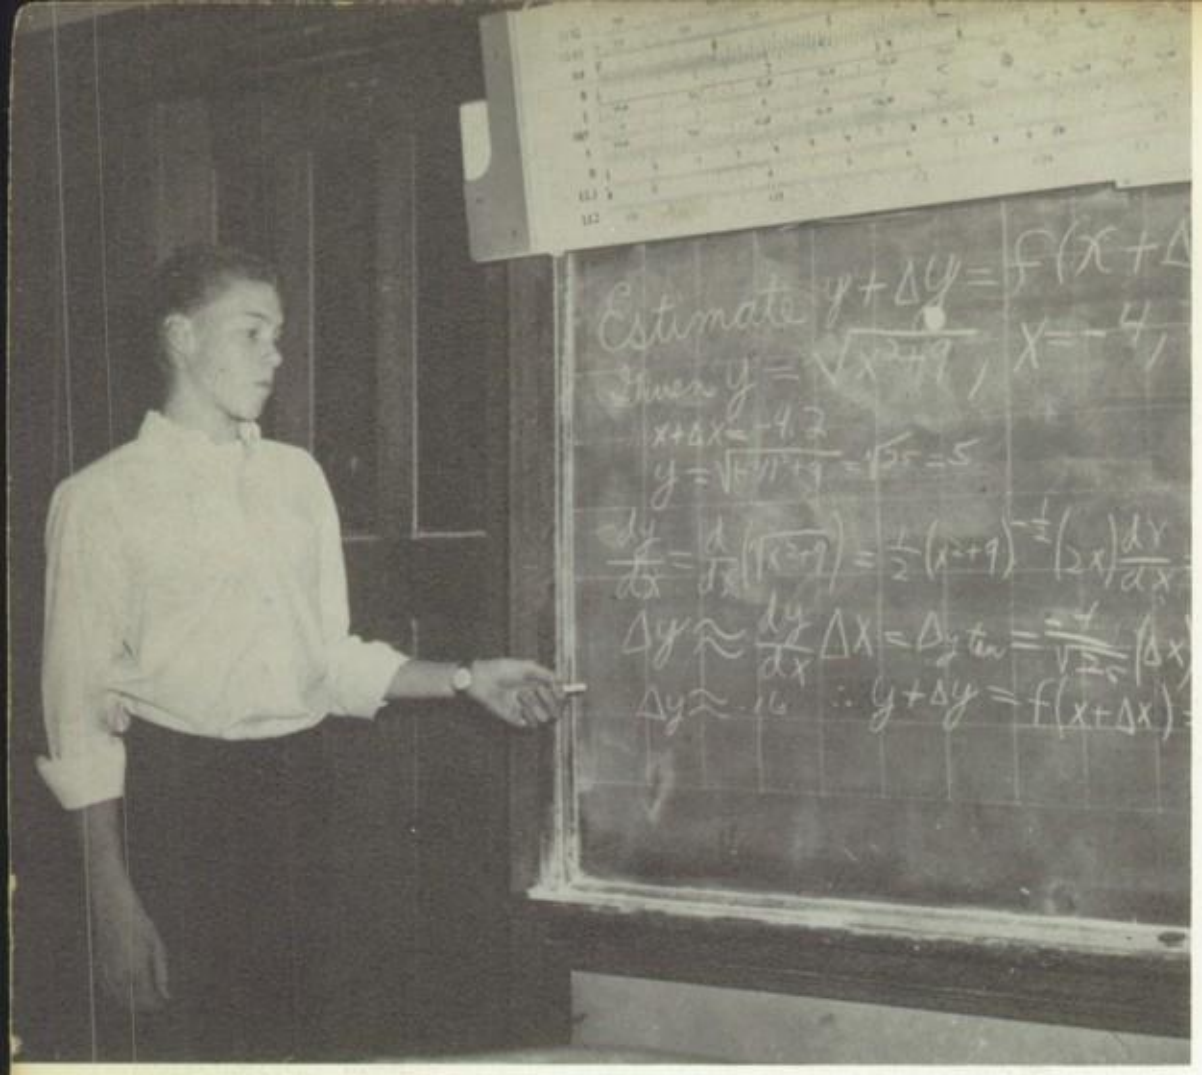
Administrators Guide West Students

Due to the able leadership of Mr. Woody, Mr. Heywood, Miss Robinson, and Mr. Taylor, events are carried out efficiently at West. Therefore these people are required to meet often during the year to discuss the activities and resolve the difficulties of the school.

The student at West knows that these administrators will understand and attempt to solve their problems.

This type of administration is not only a credit to West High School, but also characterizes the outsanding leadership found in the many schools within the Denver system.

Mr. Heywood, Mr. Taylor, and Miss Robinson discuss future plans for the year.



The class attentively listens as Dennis Evenson explains a differential calculus problem.

Outstanding Students Enter Advanced Placement Classes

Three Advanced Placement classes meet this year at West. Classes include students with the ability and interest to meet the challenges which occur in these classes.

Students who excel in American History, Math, and English may receive credit for college upon the successful completion of the course.

College Math includes a year's study of calculus and related analytic geometry.

In advanced American History classes individuals may do many projects on their own.

In College English the pupil writes many themes characterized by a philosophy obtained from the student's wide knowledge of literature.

Culture Taught in Foreign Language Classes

The foreign language classes at West include Russian, French, Latin, Spanish, and German. A student enrolling in one of these courses becomes familiar with the culture of the people speaking that language.

Language classes study basic grammar, advance to complex structures, and accomplish reading and writing structures.

The language laboratory gives students an opportunity to improve the speaking, pronunciation, and interpretation of the language.

Science Classes Satisfy Different Interests

The science classes at West provide our science students with a quest of knowledge in the different fields of science. The Biology course is offered to students wishing to extend their knowledge of living organisms. Physics is for those who are interested in the function of matter, energy, and motion. The Chemistry classes learn the composition of substances, and transformations of these substances.

Many opportunities are given to our science students. A group of interested pupils may attend the Science Seminar, which is held at South High School. Several awards are available to qualified science students.

English is one of the most important subjects offered in high school. To assist in giving students a complete background, West contributes one of the finest English departments in the Denver area. Those students interested in publications and journalism may receive credit for their work on the Rodeo and Westerner staffs, which are the paper and annual staffs respectively.

Courses range from basic to advanced fundamentals in English. Over twenty different courses are offered from standard literature to a college preparatory course. Usage of English in themes and compositions gives the writers practice with our language.

Extra-curricular activities are also offered to the student who wishes to improve his knowledge of mathematics. The Math Club is offered to such students. The use of a slide rule, and the functions of higher mathematics are taught. Eligibility requires that the student have successfully completed courses in higher mathematics.

A course entitled Business Arthmetic gives the student some knowledge which he may apply to a business career. West continues to have a College Mathematics class, which includes elements of Calculus and Analytic Geometry.

In the Business Machines class students learn the functions and many uses of machines, such as the dictaphone and posting machines.

The typing and stenography classes put emphasis on speed and accuracy.

Students become familiar with the many phases of business life and learn the correct office procedures.

Music Offers Variety

Music classes at West are enjoyable as well as educational to the student. These students have many opportunities to perform before the student body.

Students interested in a musical instrument may choose from such classes as Beginning Band, Orchestra, or Advanced Band.

Those with vocal ability may select from courses such as Beginning Choir, Girls' Ensemble, or Mixed Chorus.

Students who are selected for Concert Choir have the privilege of being on the Singing Christmas Tree.

Etiquette and Economy Stressed in Home Economics Classes

Sewing and cooking are the classes which are offered in home economics at West.

Clothing classes range from beginning to advanced. In these classes the girls are not only taught economics, but also creativity.

For the senior girls, a special class is offered. This class is in preparation for marriage. The girls serve at area luncheons, which are held frequently throughout the year.

Through knowledge and experience, the students soon apply budgeting and economizing to their own lives.

The foods classes utilize the knowledge of proper diet, recipes, and table setting. Each student gains experience through daily practice.

Aim is High in Physical Education Classes

Physical fitness and coordination are two factors which are stressed in each of the gym classes. Team work and good sportsmanship are very important; these enable the student to get the most out of the course.

Girls learn the basic skills of such sports as tennis and volleyball. They are also taught speedball and basketball. Girls may participate in a recreation period after school if they are interested in extra physical education. The purpose of this program is to promote an interest in girl's athletics, and to learn group cooperation.

Throughout the year tournaments are scheduled for various sports and games. The girls are always eager to play an exciting game.

Social Science Teachers Indebted to Society

Our society maintains schools which train youth for active participation in life. The satisfactory product of the public school system is an active, intelligent citizen.

In order to meet this high standard, teachers in the Social Science department must realize their special role in developing these high quality citizens.

Training citizens is a challenging and time consuming job. To cope with this responsibility many different classes are offered. These classes range from mandatory classes like American History and Vocations, to optional classes like Psychology and Ancient History.

At West this year the best of social guidance is offered.

Art Classes Encourage Creativity

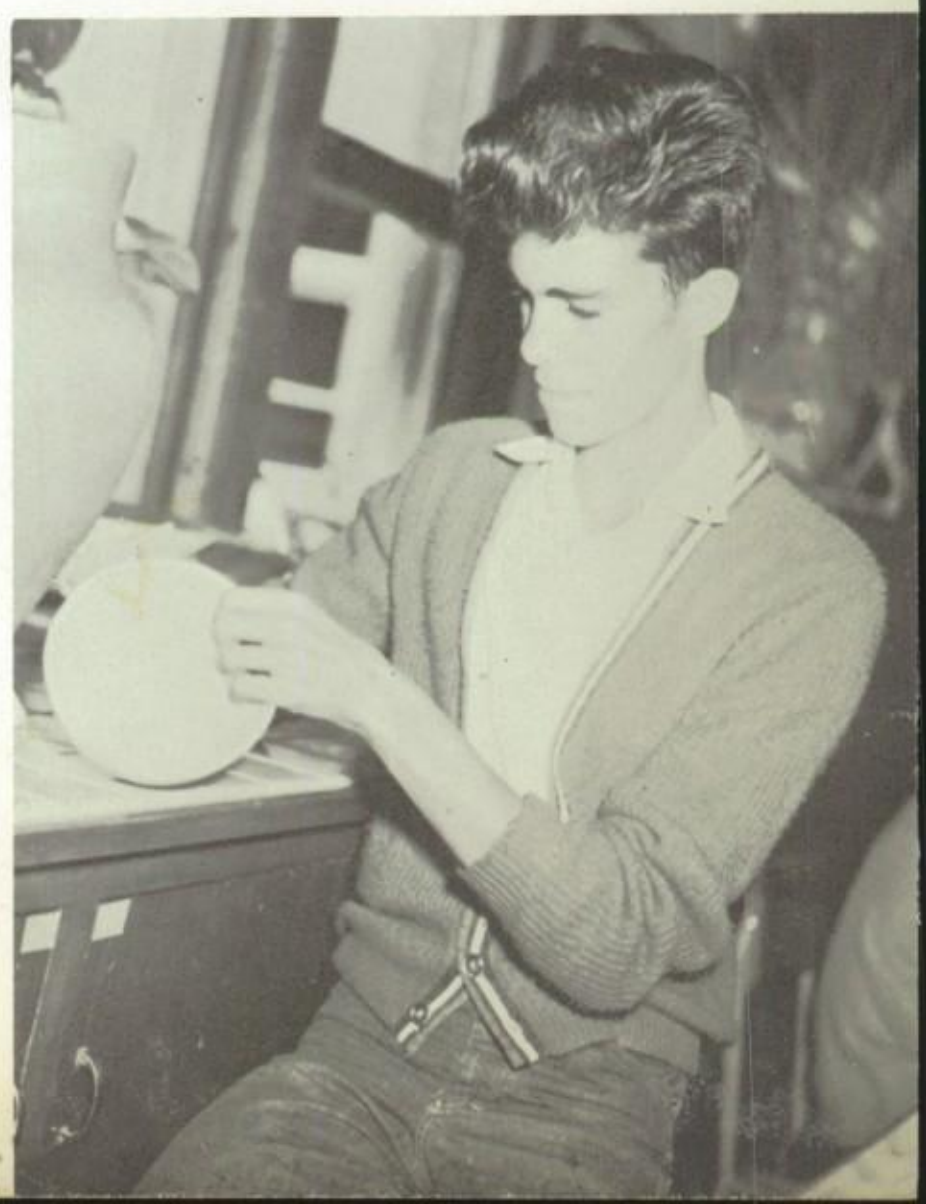
The art rooms at West have the facilities to offer every interested art student an opportunity to develop his talents.

Students can express their creativity by entering work in the May D & F Scholastic Art Competition, or in the Triple A Safety Pictures. Many students are directed toward this field for their vocation.

Students learn to express individuality in ceramics, leather work, weaving, and copper techniques. These students may enter work in the Art Festival and other exhibits during the school year.

Mr. Vigil stencils the insignia of West on a sweat shirt as a student offers to help.

Robert Wilkinson has chosen pottery as his project in the beginning ceramics class.



An anxious student driver leaves West's parking lot under the careful direction of Mr. Holeman.

Driving Students Learn In Luxury

Driver Training is a class composed of eager students willing to master the art of driving. After securing a learner's permit, the students are permitted to drive with the supervision of the instructor.

Regardless of the weather, the students are given the opportunity to drive a 1962 Ford Galaxy. Increasing their experience and passing the state test for their driver's license is the goal of student drivers. Mr. Holeman, Mr. Huddleston, and Mr. Woodham, instructors, help to make the future drivers of America safe ones.

Student Assistants Show Appreciation For Teachers

Students volunteer their assistance to teachers throughout the building, and are called Teacher Assistants. They take care of the minor details a teacher is confronted with each day, so that his time may be put to work in the classroom.

Invaluable experience and training in office work are beneficial to each individual.

A special day has been set aside annually by students at West as Teacher Appreciation Day.

This is just one way in which the student body may show its appreciation of the faculty at West.

D.E. Students Manage Fashion Bar Store

Distributive Education is a class set up to help students learn the different phases of business. Students learn salesmanship, display, advertising and how a proper job application should be made. Each student held a part-time job as part of their class requirements. Each job holder may receive credit for their job as well as their regular 5-hour classroom credits.

West Distributive Education members managed the Fashion Bar Store in Englewood, without assistance from full-time employees.

A convention was held at the Cosmopolitan Hotel, February 25 and 26. Other projects were a Christmas Party for Senior Citizens and an Easter Egg Hunt for patients of the National Jewish Asthmatic Hospital.

P.T.A. Has Rocket Theme

As a vital organ of the school system, the Parent-Teacher Association brings into closer relationship the home, the school, and the community.

Each year the P.T.A. activities are based on a definite theme. This year the theme was, "A Three-Stage Rocket for Better Living," the stages being the home, the school, and the community.

In October, Back to School Night symbolized the assembling of the rocket. In accordance with the theme, Sophomores were compared to eager space travelers. Looking to the future, Seniors are heading for the moon.

R.O.T.C. Officers Gain Experience

The life of an R.O.T.C. cadet is rigid, but rewarding.

The instructors, who sometimes seem very stern to the boys are in reality helping the trainees to realize their social and moral obligations, and to develop poise and character.

Cadets have a full social life as indicated by such activities as competition rifle matches, an R.O.T.C. picnic, and a military ball.

The Honorary Cadets, made up of Junior and Senior girls, are selected each year by their good grades, qualities of citizenship, and poise. During first hour each day the cadets meet to help the R.O.T.C. with work that needs to be done. Among their duties are: filing, typing, and work on Merit Books. Every year the cadets compete in marching and drill at Boulder, Lowry, and Washington Park. Besides the marching competition the cadets march in parades and send and receive invitations to lunch with the Honorary Cadets of the other High Schools. All is not work for the cadets for in May they attend the R.O.T.C. Ball.

Rifle Team Competes by Mail

As well as competing with other schools in the Denver area, West High's Rifle team conducts by mail, rifle matches with other schools in other cities and states. The results are computed by an impartial judge at each school and sent to the school with which they are competing.

Students on the rifle team learn how to use, to care for, and to handle weapons. They learn the many advantageous uses of firearms as well as the harmful and destructive misuses.

Rifle team members demonstrate positions used while firing.

Activities

Quilting bees, square dances, Saturday night on the town — activities of the old West which have been replaced by the pace of modern living. Man today, the same as yesterday, needs to withdraw from the working world and meet with others of similar recreational interests.

Head Boy-Girl Election Unique

The Head Boy and Girl hold the highest positions students at West may obtain. Janet Stone, Jeri Archuleta, and Bob Booms are reliable leaders of our student body. This summer they attended the National Leadership camp in Estes Park to learn democratic techniques and to make use of them in school activities.

This year West sent three representaives to All-City Council to exchange ideas with the many other high school representatives. Denver high schools other than West sent two representatives to this function.

Jeri and Janet tied with exactly the same number of votes so two Head Girls were installed into office this fall, assisted by Bob as Head Boy. Bob, Jeri, and Janet alternate as presiding officer of the Student Council.

Staters Practice Democratic Principles

Leadership ability, strength of character, and scholastic achievement are qualities that Boy and Girl Staters possess. These students must rank in the upper one-third of their junior class. West sent eight representatives to these sessions; each experienced the feeling of individual responsibility and learned the basic principles of our democratic government. Each session had their own political parties and elected their own officials in the same manner that adult voters do.

These Staters took a serious attitude in this intensive citizenship training program. The boys held their session on the campus of C.U. in Boulder. The girls attended lectures and meetings on the campus of Colorado Woman's College.

Mr. Holland, Miss Dunn, the West P.T.A., the American Legion, and the Legion Auxiliary selected and sponsored these boys and girls in this project.

Student Council Revises Constitution

Purposes of the Student Council organization are to promote leadership and improve school spirit.

This group has the power to recommend bills to the principal which concern student privileges, improvements, and school actions.

West High Student Council consists of six senior representatives, five junior representatives, four sophomore representatives, and this year our foreign exchange student. These students meet daily. The Head Boy and Head Girl preside alternately at Student Council meetings.

Among the various activities sponsored by the Student Council are student ticket sales, honor banner and honor roll, the Hi-Pard dance, the Christmas tree in front of the auditorium, and this year the bus trip to Colorado Springs for the basketball game.

This year the Student Council revised their constitution. Two new offices are provided for by these revisions, parliamentarian and chaplain. The constitution now states that any foreign exchange student will automatically become a member.

Spur is an honorary association organized for the promotion of scholastic achievement. A person must have a high scholastic record and maintain a "B" average for two consecutive semesters to gain membership.

Spur traditionally has a discussion group to explain scholarships and money grants to the sophomores.

This year at Christmas time, Spur members caroled for and gave gifts to bedridden patients at St. Francis Convalescent Home.

A group of lettermen can often be seen talking about a past game or expressing anticipation for a coming sports event. These boys are members of the "D" Club, a club which promotes fellowship and sportsmanlike attitudes.

All boys awarded a letter by their coach at West in a sport recognized by the Denver Prep Athletic League are eligible for membership.

Some activities of the club include skating and tobogganing parties, swimming, and picnics.

The "D" Club, in cooperation with Rustlers, sponsors the Homecoming Dance. King candidates for this dance are selected from "D" club members.

Cheerleaders Create Enthusiasm

In the spring of the year many sophomores, juniors, and present cheerleaders can be seen practicing cheers for the coming cheerleader election.

Qualified students experience a preliminary election in which a small group of cheerleader candidates are chosen by a nominating committee, composed of teachers, active seniors, and student council members.

The candidates exhibit their talents to the student body, which in turn selects the cheerleaders for the coming school year.

The cheerleaders this year planned all pep assemblies, invented many of their own cheers, and created enthusiasm in students.

The Westerner—A Product of Cooperative Efforts

A yearbook is a recording of the events of one school year. It is the duty of the editors and staff members to accurately record these events in well-planned layouts. For each student the yearbook has a special value, to reflect his own high school life.

Staff members must be capable people to fulfill such a responsibility to fellow students.

Interested students who have demonstrated ability in writing, typing, and photography are recommended by teachers to handle the publication of the yearbook. Present staff members interview nominees and select the future staff.

A cooperative staff and tolerant editors can produce a high-quality yearbook.

The staff of 1962 has worked diligently to produce a good yearbook. We hope that the student body approves of the finished product.

Rodeo Members Introduced to Journalistic Life

A journalist is an inquisitive, conscientious person, who can skillfully express himself.

The description suggests members of the newspaper staff, who cleverly utilize every aspect of their journalistic training in publishing each edition. Making interviews and confronting the opinion of others gave many the necessary experience for his future occupation in the literary field.

West Sends Twenty to All-City Choir

Singing on the Christmas tree is the most honored position a music student may obtain at West.

Seventy-five voices are chosen by director, Mr. James Fluckey, to combine their efforts in order to promote the Christmas spirit, and extend Yuletide greetings to all listeners. West presented their twenty-first performance to the public on December 20, 21, and 22.

The West choir and the Cathedral High School choir were chosen to sing at the annual Christmas lighting of Civic Center.

The Concert Choir also performs in assemblies, at junior high schools, and on television.

The excellent participation of this selective group accounts for a very successful year for the choir and the large number of singers that West sent to All-City Choir.

Girl's Ensemble Sings In Christmas Assembly

The second sopranos look over their part while Mr. Fluckey assists the altos.

For the first time since 1958, the Girls' Ensemble participated in the assembly which featured the Singing Christmas Tree. The girls, dressed in formals, added a touch of feminine beauty to the performance.

As well as looking very attractive, this group sings very well. They perform at many of West's assemblies, and also at junior high schools.

This class is open to all girls who enjoy singing. Membership in this class not only gives them an opportunity to perform, but also to increase their appreciation of music.

Mr. Fluckey emphasizes the difficult parts of a new song.

Bob Booms, a member of the Lariattes Boys' Panel, gives his view on going steady.

Lariattes Sponsor "Snowman's Dream."

Lariattes is the name of the girls' service organization at West. When a girl enrolls in West, she automatically becomes a member of the club. If she pays her dues, she is an active member. If she does not, she is inactive. This group was organized to render service to the school. This is accomplished by sponsoring teas, fashion shows, and the annual Christmas dance, to which girls invite boys. The theme of this year's dance was "Snowman's Dream."

A week of events precedes the Christmas dance beginning with the selection of candidates for queen and attendants by the executive board of Lariattes. Each active member can vote for her favorite candidate. The Christmas dance is climaxed when her majesty is crowned and the attendants presented.

Diana Schwartzkopf, President, puts a little humor in a Lariatte business meeting as Joan Cooper, Secretary, and Anna Sanchez, Treasurer, try to bring the meeting back to order.

Lola Knoll and Ray Anderson enjoy the enchantment of "Snowman's Dream," the Lariatte Dance.

"But I really don't . . . Oh well, just a little, perhaps."

"What you want to 'ide for every time I come into the room?" says maid Ida.

This is one of many funny scenes in the faculty production of "See How They Run."

Faculty Play A Side-Splitter

Sensationalism, slapstick, and suspense — all were prime targets aimed at viewers who attended the West High School faculty play production, "See How They Run," by Phillip King. Humorous touches involved running in and out of an English vicarage, the discussion of old "stage" days, and re-enactment of old wrestling roles. All helped create an evening of side splitting laughter and riotous enjoyment. The play was directed by Mr. Erwin Koepsel. Following is a list of the cast:

"Reverend" Glenn Scheele and Mrs. Sara Brown participated wholeheartedly in this year's faculty play.

"Sabrina Fairchild" Considered Success

"Sabrina Fair," this year's Senior Class Play, was presented in January in the West High auditorium. This comedy in four acts, written by Samual Taylor, directed by Mr. Erwin Koepsel, was considertd by all a complete success.

Sabrina Fairchild, daughter of a chauffer employed at the Larabee estate, arrived back from France after one year abroad.

Paul D'Argenson, a handsome Frenchman, had asked Sabrina to marry him, but she had to come home to find out for sure if she was still in love with David Larrabee, her childhood sweetheart. Sabrina found that it was not David she was in love with but Linus Larabee, Jr., David's brother.

Even though rehearsal and production was a task, the cast agrees that it was a lot of fun.

Jr. Optomists Spread Sunshine

"Promise yourself to take health, happiness, and prosperity to every person you meet." This is a part of the Optimist Creed, a creed that is practiced by Optimists and Junior Optimists everywhere.

Following Mr. Smith's helpful guidance and knowledge young men of West High School strive to follow the creed.

They do this by participating in many activities to benefit the people of Southwest Denver. In the winter they prepare food packages for the needy; in the spring they sponsor a bicycle safety campaign.

The worthwhile activities of this club indicate a good service organization.

Bob Steinbach leads a discussion on the bicycle safety campaign conducted by the Junior Optimists.

I.R.C. Promotes Welfare Among Nations

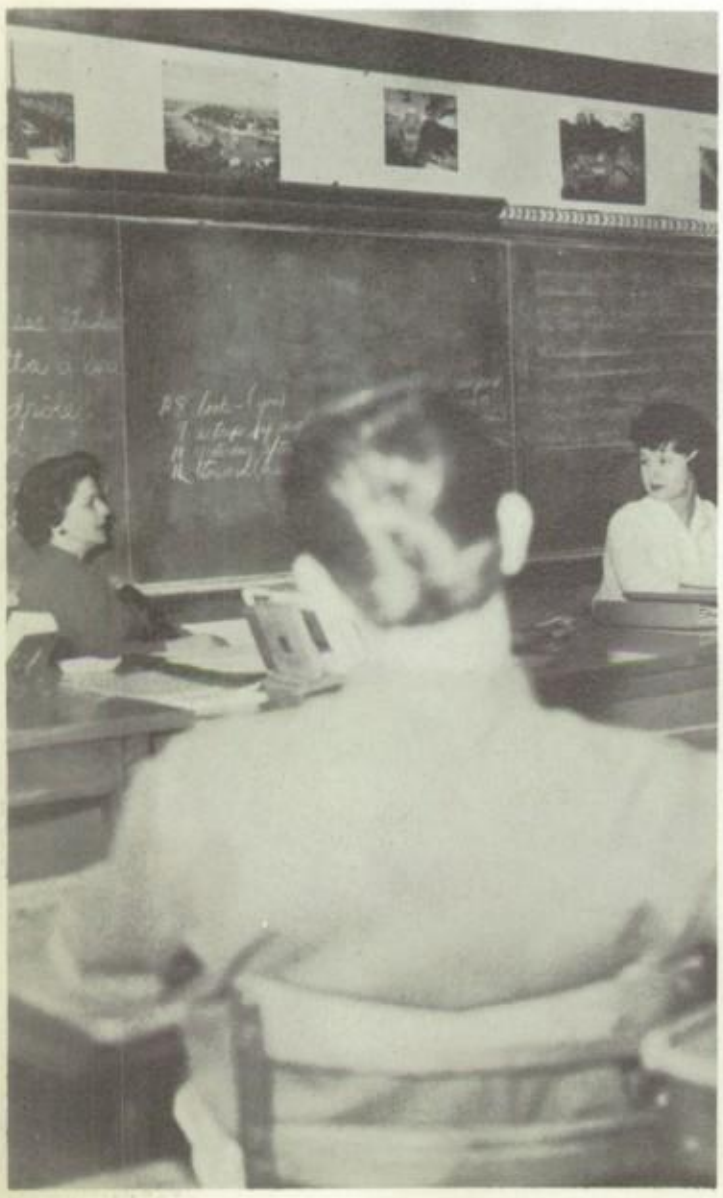
International Relations Clubs throughout the United States have a purpose similar to that of the United Nations — to promote understanding between our people and people everywhere.

The I.R.C. at West studies problems, customs, and people of other nations and discusses these issues at meetings and at an annual banquet.

For many years Mr. Scheele and the I.R.C. at West have been trying to have an exchange student at West, this year they succeeded. Hatice Tanyu, a Turkish exchange student, will graduate with the Senior Class of 1962. Next year we will send one of our students to another land.

Nona Anderson, Treas.; Mary Alice Santisteven, V. Pres.; John Hansen, Pres.; Linda McClanahan, Sec.; and Mrs. Sara Brown, Sponsor, plan topic of discussion for the next F.T.A. meeting.

Mrs. Brown gives suggestions for future F.T.A. activities.



Interest in Teaching Instilled by Future Teachers of America

Students who join Future Teachers of America become familiar with the teaching profession, and are instructed as to the requirements necessary to enter this field.

The main objective of this club is to cultivate essentials which characterize a good teacher.

Eligibility for F.T.A. requires that a student earn twenty points by doing work for a teacher. Members have an opportunity to act as substitute teachers in various grade schools throughout the year.

Members discuss and compare salaries of college professors and high school teachers.

Fred Breuch, President; Marnie Bridgewater, V. President; Anna Sanchez, Follow-up Chairman, and Elaine Smith, Secretary, sign the constitution as Mrs. Amanda Lindsey, sponsor, looks on.

Youth for Christ Promotes Development of Spiritual Life

Youth for Christ Club stresses development in physical, mental, social, and spiritual life. Throughout the year this organization sponsors many activities which typify the well-balanced life.

Emphasis is put on spiritual life by many outstanding guest speakers, who spend their entire lives developing Christian attitudes in youth.

Mental ability is tested when members of the club form a quiz team which competes with other teams of various high schools. Enthusiasts of the team are given questions concerning the Bible, with a limited time to answer.

The social activities of Y.F.C. include dinners given for the city wide Y.F.C.

Jess Tate, member of Y.F.C., entertains fellow club members.

To establish a friendly atmosphere, students begin Y.F.C. meetings with a song.

Medical Pathways Sought by Pre-Med Members

Students interested in many branches of medicine constitute the membership of the Pre-Med Club. Doctors, nurses, and medical technologists are just a few of the vocations the Pre-Med Club members are looking into for later life. Films were shown concerning fields such as Pharmacy and Chiropody. These were just two of the many fields of medicine they might wish to enter. Weekly meetings are held under the sponsorship of Mr. Zimmerhackel.

Junior Red Cross Serves Youth

During the year 1961-1962 the Junior Red Cross accomplished much, although the organization was few in number.

This dedicated few worked in the toy shop for underprivileged children. They sponsored the toy drive at West, collecting two-thousand toys which were distributed through the Santa Claus Shop. During the year members painted pictures for the children's ward of Denver General Hospital.

These activities not only gave students a chance to have fun but also instilled within each a greater desire to serve his fellow man.

Drama Club to Present "Drums of Death"

The Drama Club was organized for students to help produce or take part in a school production.

Among the students who try out the best are selected by members and the sponsor, Mr. Koepsal.

On April 27, the Drama Club will present "Drums of Death," written by Howard Reed.

Points Merit Membership In National Thespians

National Thespians is an honorary organization for those students whose interests are in the dramatic arts. Points are given to students for participation in school productions, when a set number is obtained, a student can become a member of Thespians. At the close of the year, members who have obtained the highest number of points are given an award.

One of the thoughts of the new inductees into the Masqueraders is to be accepted by the National Thespians.

Coming in costumes to the Drama Club initiation gives the new members experience which will be useful when they are accumulating points for National Thespians.

Royalty

Square dances of yesterday set the stage for royalty. Women dressed up in their best, glowing with feminine radiance. Men shaved, and dressed in "Sunday's" clothes for "Saturday night on the town."
High school dances of today are not very different. A king and queen reign as symbols of the poise, charm, and fine appearance of others at the dance.

Pinning an opponent on a wrestling mat, winning a football game, and batting a ball for a home run provide enthusiasm as did the events of the rodeo of yesterday.
A feeling of triumph and success fill the athlete of today when he conquers a hurdle. Excitement and anxiety are present among spectators. Wouldn't a rodeo furnish this very same atmosphere?

Coach Puts Humor Into Football

Injury to many members of the team gradually weakened the Cowboy's defense, and as a result lowered their standing in the league.

One of the highlights of this year's season was the attempt by Larry Ames to baffle the Rebels by executing cart wheels down the field. When Coach Girtin was confronted for an explanation for this unusual football procedure, he replied, "I don't see why you can't put some humor in this game."

The Cowboys thumped the Manual Thunderbolts 24-0 for their lone victory.

Dick Garcia, alternating as quarterback and halfback, was the Cowboy's top offensive threat, gaining 59 yards and scoring two touchdowns in this game. The Bolts managed only 47 yards rushing against the aggressive Cowboys.

This year for the second consecutive year, Dick Garcia was honored with a position on the Denver Post All-City Football Team. The following were awarded honorable mentions: Ends; Bert Schroeder, Alvis Headen. Tackles; Russ Brown, Jim Flaherty, Mike Jurich. Guards; Doug Payne. Center; Rudy Sandoval. Backs; Rudy Trujillo, LeRoy Dack, Frank Macias, Ray Lovato.

Although the football scores were not in our favor, excellent school spirit was demonstrated in the pep rallies at Union Station and at the South High Stadium.

"Bob, if they lose one more yard . . .," Coach Girtin desperately says as Coach Huddleston examines the scene critically.

Sophomore Gridders Show Defensive Poise

This year's version of the Sophomore football team finished the season with a four win-three loss record. The little pokes tied for third place in the league. Although they were small in number, they were extremely tough on defense.

As the season progressed some members of the team moved to a varsity berth. These boys along with the returning lettermen of last year's team promise to contribute to a good varsity team for next year.

West Mermen Confronted by Rough Waters

West's splashing Cowboys, although not a title contender, were an improvement over last year.

While the Cowboy team had a few promising individuals, they could not match the depth of the perennial powers, South and George Washington.

The improvement was due to the two-hundred yard medley relay team, which scored the only points made by the Cowboys in this year's city finals.

However, Coach Girtin may look forward to a better team next year; several promising individuals will return. Sophomore Gary Ford and Junior Jim Suekama return to help Coach Girtin build a first division contender for next year.

Twenty-five Go Out For Track

Twenty-five students tried out for track this year, an indication of enthusiasm and potential. West should have many entries in the following events: High Hurdles, Low Hurdles, High Jump, Shot Put, and Discus Throw.

This year's team hopes to do as well as last year's team in track. West's 1960 track team finished in the city's third spot, losing second place by only two-thirds of a point.

Energetic Girls Earn Letters In Sports

Every year many energetic girls from each class participate in Girls' Sports.

The season of the year determines the type of sport that the members engage in as a team or individually. The activities as well as a challenging point system are outlined by the sponsors, Miss Dougherty and Mrs. Renner.

The number of points that a girl earns depends upon the number of hours she spends participating in a sport. For the first one hundred points a black and orange "D" is awarded; after one thousand points a gold "D" is awarded.

Two points are in the making as Doris shoots for a basket.

Opponents jump to get the ball for their team.

The pioneer of the West was an inquisitive, adventuresome person. The trailblazers of West High School are of similar character. Sophomores each year enter West as an unexplored region, not knowing what lies ahead, but determined to find out. Gradually they find trails which are being traced by juniors and seniors. A lot of unexplored region lie ahead, the finding of new and better trails is the senior's ideal and the sophomore's dream.

Lunch time provides a welcomed break between classes for Seniors to discuss the day's happenings.

West Receives First Exchange Student

The exchange program was established by the American Field Service in order to help provide wider educational opportunities and bring about a better understanding of the world's peoples on the part of youth. Students compete for the opportunity to go abroad to study, while parents, in order to have an exchange student come to live in their home simply fill out an application describing the members of their family and their personalities. The exchange student is then sent to a home whose members have similar interests.

Hatice Tanyu, from Istanbul, Turkey, is West's first exchange student. She likes hamburgers, TV, and the telephone, none of which she'd ever seen before.

Hatice takes time out from the busy American pace to spend a quiet evening at home with Wallis and Mrs. Fraley.

Firsts for Hatice — At an American home she (left to right) writes out a homework assignment, uses a telephone, does her interpretation of the twist, and helps with the dishes.

Looking back, the cowboy can recall memories of a rewarding life. Rewards were achieved only by hard work. This Westerner, an album of memories, will grow in value through the years — bringing back the memories of a rewarding high school life.

"How cruelly sweet are the echoes that start
When memory plays an old tune on the heart!"

ELIZA COOK
